

题目 B:

Directions: write an essay of 160-200 words based on the following drawing. In your essay you should

- 1) describe the drawing briefly
- 2) explain its intended meaning, and
- 3) give your comments

You should write neatly on ANSWER SHEET2.(20 points)

1、

As is vividly in the picture, facing the spilled milk, one cries over its loss while the other one smiles for being lucky to have a little left. It is a common seen similar phenomenon in our daily life since life is not the bed of roses.

The picture above symbolically depicts the advantages of optimism. In our real life, we will be confronted with many difficulties and it is positive attitude that makes nothing is ever a setback. If anything, it just motivates us for what is next. There is absolutely no reason to refuse that attitude makes or mars our life. It is generally convinced that life is 10 percent what happens and 90 percent how we react to it. As has been shown in the picture, smile seems like a ray of light on a gloomy day.

From what have been discussed above, we may safely draw the conclusion that optimism has a great effect on our life. The more you smile, the happier your life will be. Just as a celebrity put it, if you shed tears when you miss the sun, you will also miss the stars. Everyone should hold an optimistic attitude towards life and only in this way, can we enjoy a happy life.

2、

As is shown in the picture, there are two persons ,looking at the overturned bottle, showing different reactions, one sighing that “there is nothing left”, and the other being happy that “there is something left”. According to the information given in the above-mentioned cartoon, the gist of it is regarding how we should perceive the world around us.

What prove to be the underlying reasons for it? The following several reasons stated below can be taken to be responsible for it. First and foremost, that issue is largely having something to do with the current state of people’ mind, without any doubt, some people are born positively, and while some others are born negatively. What is more important is that the outlook and value embodied in society affects how we throw our insights into something we deal with.

As far as my personal thinking is concerned, when it comes to the issue concerning how to look at the world, what we should do is to observe it positively and confidently, especially when we are experiencing and encountering setbacks. Only if we have the above-mentioned proposals adopted, can we be bound to live a life of happiness.

3、

The moment captured by this picture is very dramatic—with a bottle of milk dropped onto the ground and most of the milk spilt, two individuals at the scene expressed totally different reactions. One exclaims “Oh, God, it’s all finished!” whereas the other one remains calm and positive—that “there is still some left. “There has been a heated discussion about this picture in the newspaper. Funny as the picture is ,the symbolic meaning is as deep as the ocean.

The purpose of the drawing is to show us that utmost importance should be attached to people’s mindset. Our society is a complicated world which consists of bright sides and dark sides . But the demarcation line between the two is not always well-defined, their border line is very subtle. Even with respect to the same situation, as presented by the picture, different people have different opinions. As is apparently drawn in this miniature, in the middle stand two individuals, one feeling sad. Instead, in many cases, while the others are optimistic. The positive attitude can relieve not only pressure but also anxiety and such problems as depression, stress, isolation and solitude. Attitudes make everything in our life.

It is important to take all aspects into consideration, and treat them socially, economically and culturally. I contend that this thought-provoking image conveys one profound layer of implication concerning attitude or optimism. It is universally acknowledged that life is by no means perfect and whether we feel optimistic or not depends on what attitudes we take.

4、

As is shown in the picture, with a bottle of milk dropped onto the ground and most of the milk spilt, two individuals at the scene expressed totally different reactions. One exclaims “Oh, God, it’s all finished!” whereas the other one remains calm and positive—that “there is still some left. “There has been a heated discussion about this picture in the newspaper. Funny as the picture is, the symbolic meaning is as deep as the ocean.

When confronted with an adverse situation, some youths feel in low spirits and fall into depression. Others, on the contrary, look at the positive side of the situation and remain cheerful. As a consequence, it is our attitude rather than the situation itself that determines how we feel. In my opinion, in such a rat-race society, everyone is bound to encounter hardships and difficulties. In this sense, we should keep an optimistic attitude to overcome any hardship. Just as a famous figure puts it, it is our attitude that has changed everything in our life.

There are still several other aspects relevant to the issue under discussion, but I have no time to explore in detail. All in all, by keeping an optimistic attitude, everything will go smoothly.

5、

Everyone may have different attitudes toward the same thing. Just as the picture shows, there is a contrast between two men facing the same problem with half a bottle of water. The first one is sighing because the water spills out of the bottle, frowning in anxiety, while the second one tries immediately to pick up the bottle, thinking there is still half a bottle of water.

It is obvious that the picture tries to inform us the importance of being optimistic. There is no denying that most optimists have a high happiness index, which can hardly be experienced by pessimists. Therefore, we must read our life with a positive attitude. What's more, the optimistic attitude can infect others strongly, meaning that we will find that all the friends around us are optimistic if we observe them in the same perspective. As a result, an atmosphere of optimism and happiness could be naturally set up.

It is true that we should try our best to get ready for the future and be optimistic. Therefore, let's keep the famous line of Shelley, the well-known poet, in mind for ever, that is, "If winter comes, can spring be far behind?"

6、

As is subtly portrayed in the caricature, there are two different scenes. Facing the same bottle, one man, burying his face with his hand, is groaning on the spilt bottle. He said, utterly lost. In marked contrast, another man, wearing happy impression on his face, is congratulating himself on the remaining water in the bottle, he said, luckily enough, there is a small quantity of water left in the bottle.

The drawing vividly portrays the importance of being optimistic. Definitely, no one can deny the importance of it. An optimistic mindset can help us achieve our objectives more smoothly and realize our dreams more rapidly. By being optimistic, we can face challenges and surmount hardships with confidence , keep sober and figure out effective measures even in desperate situations. To further illustrate the importance of being optimistic, I would like to take Beethoven as a case in point: how could he, a great German music composer who became deaf at his forties, compose so many enduring and classic symphonies without optimism?

Accordingly, at no time should we overlook the power of optimism. once coming across frustrations and intending to give up, we should remind ourselves that it is optimism that will finally lead us to turn the corner. "the optimistic sees the rose , and the pessimistic sees the thorn." A philosopher once said.

7、

As is portrayed in the cartoon above, in the picture stand _____ . Facing _____ , one is _____ and sighing with sadness "all is out", but another is _____ and saying "how nice it still has". This picture shows us two kinds of attitudes---optimism and pessimism.

Apparently, what is more honored is _____. In our society, distinguishing from the rest of us, a person with the spirit of _____ is more likely to be blessed with opportunities. This character benefits him from not only _____ (好处一) but also _____ (好处二) .Take _____ (具体人) for example, being in the trouble of _____, however, instead of complaining, he keeps mind bright and energetic and finally goes through _____ (具体困难). At the same time, positive attitude can relieve our pressure and anxiety in the fast-paced society. When stuck in troubles, we can _____ by encouraging us and take advantages from _____.

All in all, under the same condition, what blinks us is that we choose to be the positive one and gain the advantages that have not fallen on others.

8、

The cartoon vividly presents us people's different attitudes towards a same thing. On the ground stand two men in front of _____, one man _____ and thinks “_____” and another _____ and responds it with the thought of

“_____”.

Through the artistic presentation, we can be easily reminded of the common phenomenon in our society, that is, _____. In fact, _____ matters weather in our work or our life. From my view, what is more adored is _____ as the following reasons. First of all, _____. Secondly, _____. Finally, _____.

From what the above analysis are taken into consideration, we can safely draw a conclusion that _____.

9、

Depicted in the picture are two men, with one appearing miserable when he is faced with the fact that _____, and the other looking blessed to accept the same fact. The left man was _____ while the right man _____. What is revealed above is _____.

Actually, the message delivered by the painter is enlightening and profound: _____ plays a pivotal role in _____. There are two main reasons why _____ is beneficial. On the one hand, _____. On the other hand, _____. _____ has an inherently high value and that ought to be imposed on the whole of the public.

I think that in order to _____, the _____ should be of significant importance to be _____, otherwise, _____.

Depicted vividly in the cartoon is two distinctive reactions of two men toward the same fact, the one is appearing miserable when he is faced with the fact that _____, and the other is looking blessed to accept it. The left man was _____ while the right man _____. What is indicated above is that _____.

Actually, the message delivered by the painter is profound in meaning: _____ is the key to _____. There are two main reasons why _____ plays a significant part in _____. On the one hand, _____. On the other hand, _____. _____ can lead to _____ and that ought to be imposed on the whole of the public.

I think that with the goal of _____, the _____ should be of a crucial role to _____.

10、

Depicted vividly in the drawing are two distinguishing reactions of two men toward the same fact, the one is appearing miserable when he is faced with the fact that _____, and the other is looking blessed to accept it. The left man was _____ while the right man _____. What is expressed above is that _____.

Actually, the message delivered by the painter is thought-provoking: _____. There are two main reasons why _____ plays a crucial role in _____. In the first place, _____. By contrast, _____. In addition to this, _____. Compared with _____, _____ can result in _____ and that ought to be imposed on the whole of the public.

Accordingly, I deem that with the goal of _____, it's crucial for _____ to _____.

11、

Drawn vividly in the cartoon: two men are reacting distinctively toward the same fact, the one is appearing miserable when he is faced with the fact that, and the other is looking blessed to accept it. The left man was _____ while the right man _____. It indicates that _____.

Actually, the message delivered by the painter is thought-provoking: _____. The reasons why _____ plays a crucial part in _____ are in two respects. Firstly, _____ in contrast to this, _____. Furthermore, _____ in comparison with that, _____. Thus, _____ results from _____ and that ought to be educated toward the whole of the public.

Accordingly, I am convinced that _____ should _____, the _____ should be of a crucial role to _____.

12、

The drawing is about two persons facing a broken bottle on the ground. One is saying: "All is gone!" While the other one is saying: "It's lucky that there is some water left."

It indicates that different people hold different attitude towards the same thing. One is optimistic, the other is pessimistic. Optimism and pessimism are personality traits that condition people's reaction to uncertainty or phenomenon. An optimist believes that anything that happens in life is good and acceptable. For example, even if the hurricane has demolished all the houses and possessions. We are lucky that all the family members survived. We lost nothing important. Compared with the natural disasters, the spilled water from a broken bottle is nothing, he should not be so gloomy and disappointed about it.

In my opinion, we should hold an optimistic attitude towards any occurrence, good or bad, big or small, in our life. Only in this way can we make our life happy and future promising.

13.

In the above picture, it describes that there are two men standing aside a bottle of water. When the bottle falls down the ground, the water is flowing out. And one man is disappointed with the situation and says "There is nothing". Beside him, there is another man still keep smile for this matter. He says that it's lucky to see the remaining water.

From their different words, it indicates that people may support opposite views about one same thing. For the optimistic people, they often keep the hope in their mind even the things get worse. And they can comfort themselves from a positive aspect. However, for those passives, they always take the things more seriously and put more considerations on them. Thus, it usually presents the different effects from different angels on different people.

In a word, we should learn to identify things in a positive way. Only in this way, can we enjoy a joyful life rather than staying at negative surroundings.

14.

From the cartoon, we can see that one man feels so pity and upset about the spilled water while the other man is happy for the remaining water. It is obvious that by this picture, the cartoonist wants to tell us that people should treat things in a positive way for there are two sides for everything.

There is an old saying "attitude determines everything", in which attitude also represents the way people choose to live their lives. It is inevitable that everything has duality, so what people can do is not to prevent things from happening but make some flexible changes when facing difficulties. Moreover, a positive mind can not only help to live a happy life but also is beneficial for health. The latest research studying the relation between people's emotion and health shows that negative mood like sadness, anger and anxiety leads to a higher risk of suffering diseases, for instance, cancer, insomnia or depressive disorder. So it is vital and necessary for people to live in a positive way.

The length of people's life is countable, but the number of the ways in which people live a life is uncountable. Positive mind helps to make our life with limited length happier and more meaningful.

15.

In the above cartoon, a bottle of liquid falls on the ground and two men are standing aside the bottle. One says "there is nothing left" with upset, while the other says "it's fortunate that there is still something left" with a hopeful smile.

From this picture, it can be grasped that different people have different attitudes toward the same situation. Some think about things from negative points, and others may hold positive views. During our daily life, confronted with various problems, if we choose the negative views, we may feel disappointed, sad and helpless. Nevertheless, we can analyze things from positive aspects. Even if the things get worse, as long as it is not the worst, we still have the hope to make it.

To sum up, every coin has two sides. Whether good or bad mostly it depends on ourselves and just like that we fail the exam. We can feel upset, but we also can view it as a new start. Even if we lose in the end, at least we have made efforts to achieve it in the process, and we have gained a lot.

16.

The drawing depicts two persons' different reactions over the spilt water, one showing extreme despair while the other one displaying relief instead. Apparently the upset one sees only what has been ruined in the bottle, but the other sees what has still remained.

As an old saying goes, every coin has two sides, there are always different perspectives to look at things. Therefore, it is of great significance for us to have an optimistic attitude towards life, particularly towards misfortunes. There are two main reasons why we should equip ourselves with optimism when facing the ups and downs. Firstly, our life does not always go on smoothly and successfully, and we cannot better understand life without talking about the hardship. Therefore, one should never lose hope for life when the affliction is inevitable. The other reason is that an optimistic attitude makes it easier for us to overcome the difficulties for it offers us strong confidence and faith towards life with which we are more likely to work out the solutions to the problems.

Our life could be filled with more happiness and hope if we hold optimism anytime and anywhere. As the drawing shows apparently, the one who picks up the bottle and an optimistic attitude looks way happier.

17.

It is symbolically demonstrated in this cartoon that two individuals confronted with the same situation of water's flowing out from bottle respond in completely diverse ways. The person on the left is saying "Everything is over" while the man on the right is saying "It is lucky to have some water left." The implied meaning of this picture can be interpreted as follows.

We are informed that holding a positive attitude is of great significance to our success in life. On the one hand, positive people will stick to one thing persistently. When facing frustration, people holding the negative attitude are more likely to give up while people with positive attitude will never surrender easily, as in their mind there is still opportunity for them to change the bad into the good. On the other hand, optimism brings our creative power into full swing, arouse our enthusiasm for work or study, which facilitates our tackling problems. Since we meet setbacks commonly in life, if we choose to embrace the future with pessimism, we could hardly feel the happiness and joy what life brings us. It is optimism rather than other extraordinary abilities that inspires us to achieve our goals.

In my opinion, being optimistic is a key to individual's development. It gives us persistence and enthusiasm, both of which are indispensable qualities for work or study. Just be more positive and you will have a nice day!

18.

As is shown in the picture, in the middle of the picture are _____, who have _____ toward the same situation where there is _____ of which is _____. The one on the right is _____ about the result, saying that _____, while the other on the right holds a totally different attitude, feeling that _____ so _____ that _____. What the drawer tends to tell us is thought-provoking.

We can deduce from the picture that _____ we have may exert various influence on our life. Confronted with the same severe situation, _____ can always discover the bright side and take actions at once to cope with the problem, while _____ only feels _____ and _____, and lose heart to fight. It is generally believed that life is filled with a variety of ups and downs, which we should consider as flavors added to our life, and what should be done is _____ and trying to figure out what can be done to address the difficulties.

For my part, it is advisable that we should _____ no matter what we are faced with. Rather than _____, we should be strong enough to go ahead and pursue our dreams.

19.

As is vividly depicted in the picture, _____ filled with _____ on the ground and half of it _____. Seeing what happened here, two men hold totally different attitudes. The man on the left is _____: '_____. ' By contrast, the man on the right is trying to _____ and saying that: '_____.'

The drawer tends to emphasize the significance of _____ when we are confronted with _____ in our daily life. There is no denying that there were and remain to be a host of _____ in our life. But what we ought to keep in mind is that it is those who are _____ enough to take advantage of _____ and deal with them that will go to their final destination. By contrast, _____ who do nothing but cry and complain about _____ are unwilling to _____.

As far as I am concerned, when faced with _____ in our life, we should summon up courage to find the way to _____ just as the people on the side has done, instead of _____ and _____. Only in this way will we live a life full of happiness.

20.

It is presented in the picture above that _____ and _____, and two men respond to the same situation with distinct attitudes. One is rather about the _____, while the other is pretty _____ about _____, and he feels _____ that _____.

The implication conveyed in this picture is the importance of _____. When faced with _____, the _____ person always focuses on _____, while the _____ always look on the bright side of life. The _____ person chooses to _____ and then _____, which in turn will _____. On the contrary, the _____ person, who always _____, will _____ to find the way to _____.

From the above discussion, we come to know that if people want to _____, they should try to develop _____. Moreover, _____ should take the responsibility to awaken people to the significance of _____. Only in these ways can people achieve more rapid progress and greater success in their life.

21.

As is shown in the cartoon, there are two men holding totally different opinions towards the same situation where a bottle falls over and half of the content is spilled. One believes that _____, but the other thinks that _____. Evidently, it is _____ that makes it possible for these two men to behave in two directions.

Numerous reasons can be listed for attaching significance to _____, but the following two will suffice. First of all, _____ is the most powerful spiritual strength when we are faced with difficulties. Suppose _____. In addition, as a proverb goes, it is useless crying over spilled milk. What should be focused is _____ instead of _____.

As far as I am concerned, the general public is supposed to cultivate their awareness of _____. After all, only with the positive function of _____ are we able to play our potential to the fullest and achieve our goals more easily.

22.

It is vividly depicted in the picture that when seeing a bottle falls over, one man _____ expresses _____ while the other is satisfied that _____. Simple as the picture may seem, the true meaning that lies within it is thought-provoking.

The picture tells us that _____ is not only necessary, but also indispensable. Through _____, people are able to relieve pressure and anxiety. Furthermore, it assists individuals in getting rid of mental problems such as depression and sense of isolation. Those who are _____ tend to adopt a positive attitude to life, and it helps to enrich our experience and enhance our vigor to create a dynamic environment for society.

On the basis of the discussion above, we may safely draw the conclusion that we can never stress the importance of _____ enough. And it is high time that we allocated due attention to _____. It is the intellectuals who are _____ that the society really desires.

23.

What is given above is a drawing that illustrates a man crying over _____ with the other rush to the bottle happily, saying that _____. The truth revealed by the drawing is that _____ has strong power for people.

The quality of _____ is of paramount significance when it comes to personal accomplishment in the ever-changing era. Take Ma Long, the Ping-pong champion of Olympic Games, for example. He would not be able to succeed without his _____. In other words, it is through _____ that shapes him into a winner. Furthermore, _____ functions as a booster in our society. A large proportion of the thorny problems can get tackled after trials and errors. And only those professionals who are _____ are allowed to make major breakthrough.

From my point of view, it is imperative for us to take some measures to enhance the sense of _____ in our society. We are supposed to keep in mind that _____ is conducive to ourselves and the society as well. Only in this way can we achieve success and can our community become harmonious.

24.

As can be seen from the drawing, in face of a bottle on the ground which is half empty, a man says it is all over with a sad face while another man says luckily there is still a half-bottled water in a delighted tone. The drawing is thought-provoking, which clearly wants us to know that we need to be optimistic.

Life is full of ups and downs. It is common that everyone will encounter failure about which it is useless no matter how we cry or complaint. Instead, what we should do is to be optimistic and start again. Stories about optimism in the history of humans are abundant. A famous story will definitely catch your attention. Edison, a renowned inventor, invented the bulb after thousands of experience. Of course, he was upset and depressed after so many defeats, however, he was optimistic and started again and again rather than gave up. At last, his efforts were paid off and the bulb was successfully invented.

Let us put what I said above into conclusion: failure is common but not terrible, and we can overcome it. Whenever we confront failure, it is not sensible to be discouraged. Being optimistic and start again, we can success one day!

25.

As is depicted in the picture, two men hold the opposite attitudes while they spill most of the water in a bottle. A man says "there is none left, how unlucky I am" whereas the other man says "I'm such a lucky dog, there is still some left".

The implication conveyed in the picture is that different perspectives we take to exam problems we confront lead to different attitudes or answers to these problems. If we treat the problems in an optimistic way, we will find the solutions to the problems more easily. On the contrary, if we look at the problems in a pessimistic way, we will doubt whether we can succeed in solving them rather than try our utmost to address them. Finally, we can hardly solve these problems.

As far as I am concerned, I strongly suggest that we should hold optimistic attitude while we are facing difficulties. Only in this way can we overcome them in a more efficient way.

26.

It is depicted in the picture that two men hold the opposite attitudes while they spill most of the water in a bottle. A man says "there is none left, how unlucky I am" whereas the other man says "I'm such a lucky dog, there is still some left".

This picture has the connotation that optimistic people can always discover what's good side because they hold a positive attitude, while pessimistic people always complain about the bad side. On one hand, a positive attitude can enhance our confidence whereas a negative attitude makes us feel unconfident. On the other hand, a positive attitude enables us to find solutions to problems while a negative attitude makes us complain again and again but never try to solve problems.

In my opinion, I strongly suggest that people should hold a positive attitude towards things. With a positive attitude towards things, we can live in a better mood and thus live a happier life.

27. On How to Face Problems

As is shown in the picture above, two men respond differently to the spilled wine. One man complains, "There's only a little left." The other man picks up the bottle and feels happy, "It's lucky to have some wine left in the bottle." The two men look at the same problem with completely different mindsets.

We usually come across different problems in our daily life. Some people would be pessimistic and upset. They spend much time complaining or regretting for the mistakes they have made. However, it's meaningless for them to do that, while some are optimistic. They look at the problems from different perspectives. Actually they would think positively. They will try to remedy the situation or take measures to solve the problems. So why don't we take a positive attitude when we encounter problems.

It's important for us to learn to face the problems. We need to calm down and adjust our mood and try to solve the problems.

28. On Attitudes Towards Problems

In the picture above, we can see a bottle falls to the ground and some wine spills out. Next to the bottle, one man says unhappily, "It is all over!" But the other man says "It is lucky to have some wine left!"

What the picture wants to tell us is meaningful and thought-provoking. In facing of problems, people always have different attitudes. Some pessimistic people would be upset in facing of problems. They always feel sad for the lost things and keep complaining. But optimistic people always discover the positive side of problems. At the same time, optimistic people would take measures to solve problems instead of complaining about what has happened. Because they know that's useless.

We may come across various problems, but we should take a positive attitude towards them. No matter what difficulties we meet, we should be optimistic or we'll be defeated. Only in this way can we be successful.